FIRES TO DISHONESTY.Blame for the Park Avenue Hotel Fire Laid at the Chief's Door—Gets Until Monday to Answer—They Can't Force Croker Out, Says Lawyer Deans.Fire Chief Croker reported at headquarters yesterday morning and Commissioner Sturgis served upon him the charges upon which he will be tried. At the same time a special order was issued rescinding the order which relieved the Chief from duty, to take effect at 10:30 next Monday morning at which time Mr.
Croker is directed to appear and answer the charges. The restoration is purely formal and Purroy will continue to be acting Chief during the trial.Chief Croker was accompanied to headquarters by his counsel, John J. Delany.
Their meeting with Mr. Sturgis lasted about ten minutes. When it was over and when Mr. Delany had read the charges, he said:
"There is not a scintilla of evidence against the financial honesty of Chief Croker.
In spite of the evident strain under which they worked drag-netting the records of the department, they raise no inference that Chief Croker was dishonest. We will not let any one who knows anything about the efficiency of a fire fighter pass upon the competency or honesty of Chief Croker.
There is not force enough in any combination to drive him from office.""Now we can see how much reliance can be placed upon the word of a man who time and time again has asserted that no charges were contemplated at the very time that the department records were being searched for evidence against the fire chief. Mr. Sturgis would not discuss the charges on the ground that he was to preside at the trial.""I would like to add," he said "that the charges were prepared by Arthur F. Costy, an Assistant Corporation Counsel, who has been very careful in going through all the evidence and examining the witness.
As far as I know, there has been no personal feeling, either political or otherwise, existing between Chief Croker and myself, and I can say now that no such feeling will be allowed in this case."There are seven counts in the charges against Chief Croker and the incidents on which they are based go back almost to the time when he first took office. The charges are under these headings:1. Failure to enforce the requirements of law for properly safeguarding the Park Avenue Hotel.
2. Incompetency as Chief of the Fire Department in the management of great fires.
3. Making false reports.4. Violating the Constitution of the State of New York in accepting free railroad transportation.5. Conversion of public property to private use.
6. Conduct prejudicial to good conduct and discipline in putting and unjustly disciplining certain members of the uniformed force.7. Conduct prejudicial to good order and discipline.The first charge is based on Croker's order of Oct. 2, 1900, to battalion chiefs to discontinue certain inspection of buildings. This charge was, resulted in the fatal fire in the Park Avenue Hotel, for this reason:In consequence thereof no further inspections and reports were sent in of the continued violation of law regarding fire precautions against fire by the proprietors of the Park Avenue Hotel; and further, the said Chief of department did not cause to be enforced the provisions of law for properly safeguarding the Park Avenue Hotel.Three fires are cited in support of the second count. At 100 Wicke fire, Thirty-first street and First avenue, in January, 1901, it is asserted that the Chief "wrongfully and improperly ordered the destruction of the building and thus caused a loss of $1,000,000. At a fire on Nov. 28, 1901, at 450 East Tenth street, it is charged that he withdrew the firemen and that the fire subsequently spread to adjoining buildings.As regards the Park Avenue Hotel fire, the charges under this count say:That Croker did show a want of judgment and skill and a neglect which caused an unnecessary loss of life, limb and property in the burning of the Park Avenue Hotel on or about Feb. 21, 1902, in that he did wholly fail and neglect to make any effort whatsoever to protect the said Park Avenue Hotel from the fire which first raged at the Seventy-first Regiment Armory, immediately opposite, and that he wholly failed and neglected to cause any persons in danger in the said building to be removed therefrom, and twenty-one lives were lost in consequence thereof.The third charge is also based on the Wicke fire. In effect, the specifications say that Croker told Seannell that the water supply was insufficient, while in a matter of fact there was plenty of water.Under the fourth head several railroad and steamship companies are named fromNeill'sWalking and Dress Street Suits which the chief is alleged to have accepted passes.

The fifth count covers the ground gone over in the recent Ryan trial. The assertion is made that at different times between July, 1899, and August, 1902, the chief sent his own horse to the hospital and training stables of the Fire Department, and that he had various of his own vehicles repaired at the shops of the department at the city's expense. He is accused also of supplying to the Polo Grounds horse for which the city received no pay.The specifications under the heading of the sixth charge concern Croker's attitude toward Foreman Clifford of Battalion Chief Terpin's command. Croker, it is asserted, ordered Terpin to change Clif-ford's day off, so that the latter could not attend the meetings of the Firemen's Mutual Benefit Association. Croker is accused of transferring Terpin for refusing to obey the order. Croker is also accused of discriminating against men who refused to join the New York Fire Department Benefit Association.Croker's "conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman" lies in "falsely stating" to a reporter:"Ever since they have come into office Commissioner Sturgis and I have been in the
